MAHA takes over ATT

- We continue to guarantee our customers: "Real Made in Germany" vehicle testing technology at the best price/performance ratio!

Haldenwang/Kehl, 30 April 2020. It is with great pleasure and pride that the managing directors and shareholders of MAHA and ATT announce that effective 30 April 2020 100% of the ownership shares of ATT Automotive Testing Technologies GmbH have been acquired by MAHA Maschinenbau Haldenwang GmbH Co. & KG.

ATT has been in existence since 2000, when it was founded as a joint venture between Robert-Bosch GmbH and the Nussbaum Group. In 2016 ATT Nussbaum Prüftechnik GmbH separated from Nussbaum GmbH & Co. KG and has been operating under the name ATT Automotive Testing Technologies GmbH since end of January 2020.

With the spin-off from the Nussbaum Group in 2016, ATT has established a significant market position as a full-service provider of testing technology for periodic vehicle monitoring, not only in the German, but also the international testing business.

"We are very pleased that ATT can now follow this path of growth through innovative strength, based on focusing on the needs of our customers, together with the MAHA Group," says Mr. von Wrede, spokesman for the shareholders of ATT.

ATT's credo is: Our customers trust our technical competence and excellent product quality, which is "Made in Germany". "This is exactly our philosophy", states a pleased Stefan Fuchs, Managing Director of MAHA and confirms: "We continue to guarantee our joint customers: 'Real Made in Germany' vehicle testing technology at the best price/performance ratio!"

"A particular strength of ATT is its proximity to the customer. Of course, ATT's customers can expect that the trusting relationship is at the center of our efforts and that we will contact them promptly", adds Stefan Fuchs.

"All those involved agree that this is a very good solution for ATT and MAHA, but also, and above all, for their customers", concludes MAHA Managing Director Michael Amann with satisfaction.
